DR. JAMES G. JOHNSON
Superintendent

At its March meeting, the City School Board re-elected Dr. James G. Johnson for his twenty-sixth year as superintendent of Charlottesville Schools. He has held that position continuously since June 1, 1909, shortly after receiving his Ph.D. at the University of Virginia.

During Dr. Johnson's term of service in Charlottesville, three public schools for white children and a new high school for the colored have been added to the two original structures.

Since Dr. Johnson has seen the rise of the local school system which we find today, he is signaling this development by the publishing of a complete school history. The history will cover the official actions of the school board and superintendent, lists of teachers, development of courses of study, text-books, state board regulations, and legislative acts with reference to education. The history will give a complete picture of the growth of education in Charlottesville from the time of the one-room school to the present.

In 1901 Mr. Hugh L. Sulfridge was graduated from the College of William and Mary, and two months after his graduation, became principal of the Coeburn Graded and High School. In 1911 he accepted the position of principal in a school in Stone-ga, Virginia, where he staved for two years; then he went to Appalachia, and remained there until 1919. For the next ten years he was principal of the Big Stone Gap High School. After receiving his M.A. degree from Columbia University in 1929, he became principal of Lane High

Senior Class History

HOW many old times we have to talk over as this year closes! We recall that on September 1, 1932, we approached our new training quarters, shy and apprehensive, like little wide-eyed, wobblekneed colts, fresh from romping in summer pastures. We shied away from those pestiferous Sophomores and stared with awe at passing Seniors. Our class officers that year were Grace Linton, president; Kathryn Neal, vice-president; Ann Fife, secretary; and Harrison Burgess, treasurer. Under the careful guidance of them and of our sponsor, Miss Florence Fleet (now Mrs. Francis G. Lankford, Jr.), we began to outgrow our "freshness" and to take part in school affairs. We even managed to get into the school clubs. At the end of May we looked forward almost joyously to the next school year.

And then we were Sophomores! Gone forever was our timidity and our reverence for upper classmen. Now we held no one in awe; not even the most dignified of Seniors was free from our pranks and wisecracks. And did we enjoy the faculty play, "The Whole Town's Talking"! Our class leaders that happy-go-lucky year were Barnard Dirzulaitis, president; Middleton Freeman, vice-president; Ann Fife, secretary; and Reuel Wiebel, treasurer. Our able sponsor was Mrs. Richmond Bell. We first became interested in football in 1934 when Lane won the State Championship. Such wild rejoicing! What an unforgettable year!

At the beginning of our Junior year we put aside some of our Sophomore playfulness and, as became our rank, behaved a bit more sedately. Now we really felt that we were an essential part of the school. We were taking important places in athletics, school publications, club affairs, and other school activities. We choose as officers: Ann Fife, president; Barnard Dirzulaitis, vice-president; Sarah Buford, secretary; Guilford Acker, treasurer; and as sponsors, two very popular teachers, Miss Ada Lee Berrey and Mr. William Carter.

Ah, Seniors at last! We could hardly believe it. How busy we have been this year with our various Senior activities! At our first class meeting we selected our new officers: Hamilton Smithey, president; Douglas Fife, vice-president; Crews Borden, secretary; Arthur Wood, treasurer; and our sponsors, Miss Sylvia Horwitz and Mr. H. H. Walker. We received the first real thrill of our Senior year when our rings and pins came. The pins especially made us proud because we were the first Senior class ever to have them.

Our first dance added gaiety to our work early in the year. Soon thereafter came the Senior play, "The Girl From Child's", written by Archie Colby and A. G. Jackson. The play put us in just the right mood for the dance given afterwards. Later in the year we took advantage of the lovely spring weather to have the annual Senior picnic. And just for variety, we held a tea dance for Seniors only. On the practical side of affairs, Mr. Sulfridge arranged for a vocational guidance program to help us choose the trade or profession in which we were most interested. And then came that last exciting week, with the Senior banquet, the Senior dance, and that crowning moment of our whole four years of high school—graduation!!

Class Historian.

Seniors

Awake! Behold the subtle thread
Where dreams embrace reality;
Let Youth 'till now in slumber fed
Awake from dreams' sweet fallacy.
Let Youth wake not as one deceived,
But let the sight of Truth commend
Each aspiration thus conceived
That fallacy it may amend.
Awake that Youth may fully live;
Enjoy, as life is meant to be,
The many joys that life can give
For even then we've yet to see—;
If dreams bring joyful fantasy,
What ecstasy must waking be!

Junior Class History

JUNIORS! After coming such a long way we utter the word with mixed emotions. Three long years ago we were gawky, bewildered Freshmen, listening to the exploits of Lane's outstanding athletes and scholars. No longer are we the despised underdog. We are the class of '38!

After the confusion and chaos of registration, our two hundred odd members congregated in the assembly hall for the organization of the class. We unanimously elected James Borden, popular member of the student body, as president. To him fell the task of guiding us. Assisting him were Harrison Burgess, vice-president; Lucille Dettor, secretary; and Hannah Grahsl, treasurer. Mr. Richard Meade was selected sponsor. With the cooperation of sponsor, class officers, and the class itself, we have come a long way since September.

Many members of our class participated in literary activities. Outstanding were Harrison Burgess, columnist, who wrote the popular feature, Cosmopolitan Courier, in the Midway Student, and Dickie Johnson, who was the assistant editor of the school "sheet". There were three Juniors, Mary Copeland, Forman Dirickson, and Raymond Harris, in the school presentation of "The Jinx", the Players Club production.

The Sophs came into their own when we joined with them in giving the Sophomore-Junior Dance which was held November 6 at the City Armory. It was quite a gala event in itself, as there were many students from Thomas Jefferson High School of Richmond attending. Also, quite a few of the old grads of Lane were present.

Jeannette Seiler was by far the most outstanding girl star in athletics. Donnie Disque and Jimmy Gianakos, newcomers, have been important factors in the athletic history of Lane. Donnie's performance on the gridiron will probably give him a place in Lane's Hall of Fame for athletes.

After having chalked up an eventful year in the annals of the class of '38, we look forward to next year, where, as Seniors, we will be allowed really to put our "iron in the fire" and gain recognition through even more literary and athletic contributions.

MARY COPELAND AND FORMAN DIRICKSON,
Class Historians.

Sophomore Class History

*T*IME marches on! We, who not so very long ago were green and frightened Freshmen, are now nonchalant and sophisticated (we hope) Sophomores.

In the early part of the term, at our first class meeting, we elected as our class officers, Alice Pritchett, president; Billy Hulvey, vice-president; Elise Graves, secretary; and Mark Congdon, treasurer. We showed our good judgment when we chose Mr. Foster Gresham as our sponsor.

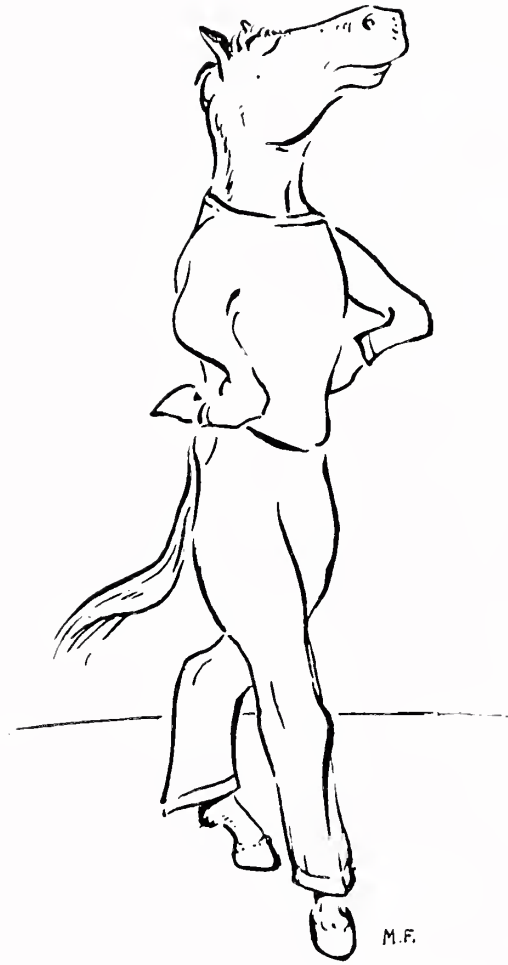

Then we and the Juniors combined forces and gave one of the outstanding dances of the year on November 6 at the City Armory.

Many Sophomores have played prominent parts in the year's activities. Elsie Mae Clarke was the representative in the Latin tournament. The two Sophomore girls on the Athletic Council were Alice Glover and Ada Vandenberg. Elizabeth Buford portrayed one of the leading roles in the Players Club play, "The Jinx". The Sophomore English classes were in charge of Lane News, a feature which appeared every Saturday in the Daily Progress.

It is with pardonable pride that we look back on the past year, but we feel greater things are in store for us next year.

JANE SHIELDS,

Class Historian.

Freshman Class History

WE started out upon our Freshman year with feelings of pride and misgivings, but with the determination that as a class, we would succeed in making ourselves known in the forthcoming year.

The first class meeting was held in the auditorium for the purpose of electing officers and organizing the class. We chose Ruth Sloan for president; Sam Clarke, vice-president; Betty Ann Behrendt, secretary; and Clay Chisholm, treasurer. For sponsors we selected Mrs. E. O. McCue, Jr., and Mrs. William Meade.

Our class gave the first assembly of the year, depicting school life at Lane. We tried to portray the different clubs, organizations, and athletics as we imagined them.

Members of our class have been outstanding in the extra-curricular activities of the school. Many of the Frosh boys were on the Junior football team, the boxing team, and the baseball teams. Our girls participated in basketball and softball.

As we conclude this first chapter of our lives as members of the student body at Lane High School, we look back upon many pleasant occasions: the Freshman Mix-up, our class organization, talks by Judge Munford Boyd and Virginia Campbell, Editor of the Bumble Bee, and the numerous assemblies. Yet we look ahead with even greater enjoyment, when, as Sophomores, we shall endeavor to follow the high standards set by preceding classes. Can we make the grade? We think so!

HELEN EWELL,
Class Historian.

Activities

The Achievement Award

IN the fall of 1935, Lane High School made a definite effort to bring all of its extra-curricular activities into a unified program so that as many pupils as possible might receive the benefit of the various kinds of training offered.

Briefly, the plan set up is as follows: a series of awards graduated over three years is offered, these awards beginning in May, 1936. For the first year's award, a black and gold enamel "C" is offered; for the second year, a silver pin; for the third year, a gold pin with the school seal.

In order that the pupil receiving the award may be trained along the lines leading to more effective citizenship, four types of activities are required: first, administrative work, or since such opportunities are necessarily limited, active club membership; second, a certain amount of physical training; third, development of creative ability; fourth, scholastic achievement. Each activity is measured by points, a certain number of which are required, and the specific number which may be obtained is limited.

The program is set up in such a way that it is within reach of every child in school who has the will to stick to a purpose throughout the session. For instance, only a limited number of girls can win the basketball letter, but anyone can get her athletic point by hiking a certain number of miles according to regulations of the Girls' Athletic Council. Other required points are set up in the same flexible way to meet the varying capabilities of all pupils in school.

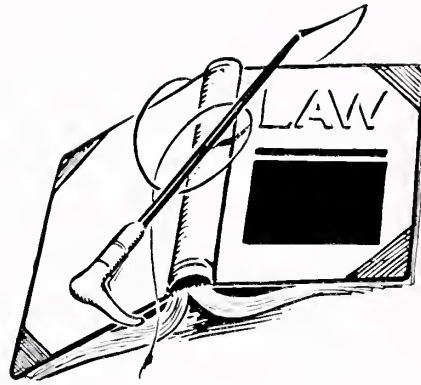

Another object of the program is to limit the activities in which a pupil may engage at one time. This specification has a two-fold purpose: to concentrate the pupil's energies on doing a few things well, and to make it possible for more individuals to engage in the activities.

All the clubs, organizations, athletic activities, and publications are required to set up standards which their members must meet before receiving the award. Pupils make application for this honor at the end of the scholastic year, listing the points which they have earned; then these applications are checked by the Student Council which presents the awards.

In May, 1936, when the pins were given for the first time, forty-five pupils received the black and gold enameled "C". This year, 1937, approximately as many received the first award, while a large per cent of the 1936 winners received the silver pin signifying all-around achievement for the second year.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Seven years ago Lane organized its first Student Council for the triple purpose of promoting better understanding between the student body and the faculty, familiarizing the students with the regulations and true spirit of the school, and giving the students opportunity for a partial degree of self-government.

With these principles in mind, this year's Council has done much that has been of real benefit to the school. In order to relieve the congested traffic in the halls, it organized a system, designating certain stairs to be used for ascending and descending crowds between classes. The Council has again sponsored a program amplifying and encouraging the use of the honor system in all school relationships. The Achievement Award System, organized last year, was this year changed in some respects, making it on the whole more practical and effective. Numerous other suggestions and plans were set aside for further consideration.

The delegates sent by the Council to the State Student Government Association Convention held at Danville, returned with many useful ideas and suggestions which were used to advantage.

With the application of new spirit and life to the organization, Lane's Student Council this year took a growing and more important part in the life and activities of the school.

THE BOYS' HI-Y

Beginning the year with the usual "Freshman Mixer", the Boys' Hi-Y Club of Lane carried out a traditional program of helpful undertakings. In addition to discussions on the alcoholic problem made by Dr. Thomas Daniel and Judge Callan Brooks, the club sponsored a vocational guidance program. Among the outstanding guests who made addresses were Dean Walter S. Rodman of the University of Virginia Engineering School, Dr. Chapin Jones of the University of Virginia Forestry Department, and Mr. Bernard Chamberlain, a prominent local attorney. Also Dr. Atcheson Hench of the University Faculty pointed out the necessity of correct grammar in a talk entitled "English as Used by Leading Citizens of the Community."

With the annual distribution of Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets to the less fortunate, the club also furnished lunches, books, and tuition for a number of needy pupils from the county.

While numerous other such charitable projects were undertaken during the year, the organization presented an appropriate Christmas assembly program and a "Dad's Night" for the fathers of Hi-Y members.

After sending representatives to the District Four Hi-Y conference at Staunton and the Student Cooperative Association Conference at Louisa, the club ended the year with the popular "Best Girl" banquet and dance.

GIRLS' HI-Y

The Girls' Hi-Y has grown steadily since its organization as a branch of the Boys' Hi-Y. Under the leadership of the president, Ann Fife, and the sponsors, Miss Lillian Butt and Miss Elizabeth Thrift, its activities range from a successful Mother-Daughter Tea to a civic part in the Annual Boys' and Girls' Week, directed by the Recreation Department of Charlottesville.

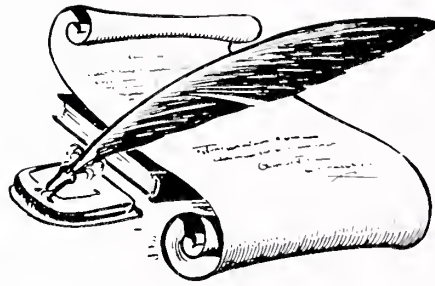

In the fall the Boys' and Girls' Clubs jointly gave a "Freshman Mixer", at which the Freshmen became acquainted. Later the boys helped the girls to present a Christmas assembly program.

The club engaged in many outside projects. It furnished clothing for a little boy from the Children's Home and gave the entire Home a Christmas party. Some girls helped with the Mothers' Club drive for school lunches for those who are underprivileged. The Girls' Hi-Y appropriated ten dollars each to the Good Will fund, the flood relief, and the Children's Home.

The programs for the year included talks by outside speakers and a series of Bible discussions. The club attended church in a body once a month.

Delegates attended the state conference at Christiansburg and the district conference at Staunton, where Crews Borden presided as Girls' president.

The Girls' Hi-Y Club this year hopes to win again a gold seal certificate, the highest award possible and one which they have received consecutively for three years.

HAYES LITERARY SOCIETY

This year the Hayes Literary Society effected a complete reorganization of its set-up. The club was divided into five individual teams, each of which was headed by a captain. Under strong competition, the teams presented excellent programs.

After an official constitution had been adopted, a bill was passed requiring that the programs be two-fold, one part being devoted to literary activities, and the other consisting of such entertainment as music, dancing, and short plays. Under the supervision of the sponsors, Mr. Richard Meade and Mr. Gerald Speidel, parliamentary procedure was observed during meetings.

The membership of the society reached its height during this year. Interest in the club brought the average attendance up to seventy-five per cent. Among the Hayes members were the editors of the three school publications, and the presidents of the Senior Class, the Sophomore Class, the Girls' Hi-Y, and the Student Council.

With the amazing new interest inspired by the many changes, the club presented its annual assembly program which included such features as a "brain-buster" contest (in which unwarmed students were called upon), a play, and a number of impersonations.

After participation in the Virginia Literary and Athletic League Contests for reading, public speaking, and spelling, the society felt that it had completed a very full and successful year.

METCALF LITERARY SOCIETY

This, the twelfth year of the Metcalf Literary Society, proved to be one of the most successful and eventful in its entire history. All the programs were made up with the view of training the members for participation in the Virginia Literary and Athletic League Contests.

The society undertook no one particular subject for study as in former years, but made up the major portion of its programs in outline studies of reciting, public speaking, reading, and debating.

The Metcalf was very fortunate this year in having as its sponsor Miss Lucy T. Jones, a capable and efficient director. Under Miss Jones' supervision a very entertaining assembly play entitled "Not Quite Such a Goose" was presented.

Members of the club who have distinguished themselves in other fields are Ruth Sloan, President of the Freshman Class; Crews Borden, President of the Girls' Glee Club, and Lawrence Snoddy, President of the Boys' Glee Club. Active members in the club who received awards last year were Jean Spicer, who won the ten dollar prize given by the School Board each commencement, for her story entitled "One More Yankee", and Jimmy May, who received honorable mention in the Virginia Literary and Athletic League Contest for his story, "The Man Who Wasn't Yellow."

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Girls' Glee Club this year continued its eventful and active life, emphasizing, in its monthly meetings, discussions on the careers and compositions of great masters in the field of music.

The club centered its major efforts on its biennial performance of an operetta. The selection, "Miss Blue Eyes", given in charming gaiety, portrayed in a delightful manner the choral and solo achievements of the members of the two clubs. Following the performance the Glee Clubs gave the first dance in their history. Both enterprises were highly successful.

The Glee Club sponsored a new and interesting contest for the writing of the best new school song. The winner of the prize was Cleveland Doner, who arranged his lyric to the tune of the "Bells of St. Mary's."

Semi-annual Glee Club tryouts were held in September and February. Those who in the opinion of the judges and sponsors had talent in music were invited to join the club.

Through the efforts of the Glee Club and the administration, John Powell, internationally distinguished pianist and composer, appeared on the program at the annual Guest Meeting.

Much of the success of the Girls' Glee Club this year is to be attributed to its sponsors, Mrs. E. O. McCue, Jr., and Miss Hebe Ruggieri.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Boys' Glee Club, continuing its program of fostering music appreciation and giving its members a chance to display their talents, climaxed this eventful year with the presentation of the operetta, "Miss Blue Eyes". This production, given jointly with the Girls' Glee Club, co-starred Betty Shumate and Lawrence Snoddy. Other members displaying their talents were Hamilton Smithey, Ernest Oglesby, Raoul Salamanca, Jimmie May, and Raymond Harris.

The true merit of the Boys' Glee Club, however, has not been so much in its presenting educational and entertaining programs, but rather in its encouraging "just singing". As Mr. Powell mentioned in his talk to the school, the deep joy of music lies in making it, no matter how crude or amateur it might be.

This year the Boys' Glee Club awarded achievement pins to those members who fulfilled the requirements for active membership.

Under the leadership of its president, Lawrence Snoddy, and its sponsor, Mr. J. E. Reitz, the club has had a very successful musical year.

PLAYERS CLUB

Through the efforts of the president, Dorothy Hahn, the sponsors, and the Board of Directors, the Players Club looks back on an eventful and successful year.

The primary aim of the organization is to encourage talent and to stimulate interest in the activities of Lane's "Little Theatre" group. Of its sixty-two members the majority have appeared in assemblies and plays, while others have directed such programs.

This year's production, "The Jinx", a three-act farce by Wilbur Braun, was presented on February 18 and 19. The leading roles were played by Cornelia Ely, who was the club's president last year, and Philip Peyton, who edits our school paper. Following the second night of the entertainment, a dance was given at Fry's Spring studio.

Twice during the year a handful of those trying out for parts proved themselves worthy of being added to the membership roll. In the spring the club sponsored a one-act play, directed by Miss Virginia Bolen and Mr. E. R. Riedel, to compete in the Virginia Athletic League and Literary Contest held at the University of Virginia.

At 2:30 the staff piles into room 12 with an "if you're not on the Annual, get out!"

Prized photographs disappear, write-ups never come in on time, and on top of this the Senior play, takes a hunk of the staff for practices at the most vital times. Then, too, we mustn't forget the Spartan service of one of our sponsors, Miss Horwitz, who has worked

Concluding its third year as a Class A publication, The Midway Student has finished its second year as a six-column paper. Among the new features of the newspaper this session was "The Cosmopolitan Courier", devoted to timely comments on books, plays, moving pictures and radio programs. Ably written by Harrison Burgess, this column immediately became the feature attraction of the paper. "It May "Be Funny, But—" was another column which attracted much attention. Having poems, bits of humor, and anecdotes contributed by Lane-ites, it was capably edited by Louise Webb.

Another feature of the Midway Student, which helped to keep it in step with the times, was the series of polls conducted to ascertain the sentiments of Lane-ites on various subjects. The first of these was a presidential "straw ballot." The results, announced on October 16, showed Franklin

D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, to be a heavy favorite. Subsequent interest in this poll was such, as indicated by the write-up written up in a Richmond newspaper, that another was held on February 15, 1937, to find out the opinions of parents and pupils in regard to the hours of high school dances. The outcome of this was a tie, 188-188.

The Junior English classes would have charge of the Daily Progress column and the Midway Student, leaving Seniors to work on the Chain and Bumble Bee. As it is expected that this system will be put into effect next fall, no editor-in-chief has been chosen for the next session.

SCHOOL SONGS

OLD LANE HIGH

(Tune to "The Bells of St. Mary's")

We sing of Lane High School
With pride, love and honor.
We praise her renowned name
That's known near and far;
So friends we all gather
To shout forth her praises,
We'll shout and sing,
'Till our voices ring,
For old Lane High.

Come Freshmen, come Sophomores,
Come Juniors, and Seniors.
Let's all join together
In spirit and song;
We'll always remember
These moments of pleasure,
When we sing of thee,
With mirth and glee,
Our old Lane High.

We're rooting for you, boys of C. H. S.
Of all the football teams, you are the best.
We haven't seen a line you can't break through;
With forward passes circling in, you're bully too;
And when the back-field hits the line, ker-plunk!
It makes those other fellows feel like bunk!
Say, our players have the spunk, have the spunk!
Rah! Rah! Rah!

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

The Athletic Council this year is composed of the following members: athletic director, E. R. Riedel; coaches, Cullen Wilkin, Lancelot Taylor, Irene Garrison and Lucile Leitch. It is the purpose of this body to supervise and direct all sports at Lane.

E. R. Riedel, better known as "Prof," has been a successful general athletic director at Lane for nine years and has also been sponsor of the "C" Club for several years. Cullen Wilkin's first year as coach of boys' athletics was marked by well-trained football, basketball, and track teams. He also made Lane's first official boxing season completely successful. Lancelot Taylor, a former star Lane footballer, has finished his third successful year as coach of the Junior football team.

Miss Garrison and Mrs. Leitch are in charge of all girls' athletic activities, including volleyball, tennis, softball and hiking. Mrs. Leitch is also sponsor of the Sport Club. Under their direction, the popularity of girls' sports has increased immensely.

"C" CLUB

The "C" Club is an honorary organization composed of men who, by their ability and sportsmanship, have proved themselves worthy of a varsity "C".

There is a great desire on the part of each boy who participates in either of the major sports to do his best, both as an individual and as a part of the group, to fulfill the requirements in order that he may be able to obtain the coveted "C".

During the past year the "C" Club sponsored two dances, a Thanksgiving dance and a banquet dance during April.

Six years ago Mr. James A. Leitch, Athletic Coach, and Mr. Esmond Riedel, Athletic Director of Lane High School, organized this monogram club for the purpose of promoting athletic activities and sportsmanship in the high school. Mr. Leitch sponsored this "C" club the first two years and since that time the club has been fortunate in having as its sponsor Mr. Riedel, who has contributed much to the club's success.

RESUME

COACH Cullen Wilkin, who is the gridiron version of Job, was given the task of rebuilding a graduation-riddled Lane eleven last September with scarcely a half-dozen seasoned gridders. In addition to this handicap, Coach Wilkin was confronted with too ambitious a schedule that included eight conference games plus a top-ranking prep school. Nevertheless, the genial "Orange" mentor produced a scrapping eleven that furnished ample opposition to all comers.

The crowning achievement of the seemingly dismal campaign was the development of a quartet of crack gridmen, who were regarded highly in state gridiron circles. Captain "Stumpy" Deane and Guilford Acker received all-state recognition. "Bubber" Barnes, former linesman, was converted into a fullback and performed most capably, and as usual, "Buck" Wood turned in repeated good performances.

Lane's initial encounter resulted in a 6-0 defeat at the hands of a heavy Woodberry Forest team. The first quarter was largely a punting duel with Woodberry's having the advantage and scoring the only touchdown. The try for the extra point failed. The second quarter saw Lane gaining ground well, but being kept from the Woodberry goal by excellent punting. The third quarter was quiet, with neither team showing supremacy. In the last quarter, Deane got off a spectacular 60-yard dash that carried the Lane-ites right up to their opponents' goal. Lane was penalized fifteen yards, though, and the game ended without her scoring.

The Orange and Black snapped into the winning column by defeating George Washington High of Alexandria on home ground by the score of 6-2. Alexandria drew first blood when Lane fumbled behind her goal line in the first quarter. The rest of the first half was taken up by an ineffectual see-saw contest. Lane opened the second half with an aerial attack and put the ball in scoring position. "Stumpy" Deane carried the ball over for Lane's touchdown, but failed in the attempt to score the extra point. Lane withstood a fourth quarter rally to keep her lead intact.

Because of an injury suffered in the Alexandria game, Lane's outstanding back, Carl Deane, was unable to show his running ability to the Newport News Typhoons. However, his passing was top-notch, and the game ended in a 0-0 tie with the water-front boys.

AT THE TEE-JAY GAME

On the following week-end, Lane and Danville battled to Lane's second straight 0-0 score. The entire game was played in a sea of mud and a torrent of rain. The first half was played on even terms with both sides punting well. Lane got going and played the last part of the second quarter in Danville's territory and also had the advantage in the third stanza. In the fourth quarter Danville, with only a few yards to go, fought hard in Lane's territory to cross the goal line. Four downs with little or no gain, followed by an excellent punt by Deane, preventing a score.

Lane lost her first Class "A" battle to Salem, 7-0, in a one-sided contest. In the first few minutes of play, Salem scored all seven of her points and outplayed Lane for the remainder of the game. Lane showed best in the fourth quarter, but was unable to score.

Lane's next defeat was accomplished skillfully by Roanoke, 10-0. The first quarter was even with Lane's holding the heavier team well.

In the second quarter, Roanoke got a scoring chance when Lane fumbled on its ten-yard line. Unable to cross the goal line, Roanoke kicked a field goal to take a 3-0 lead. This ended the scoring until the fourth period, when, after a sustained drive, the Roanoke team scored a touchdown and also converted the extra point.

A powerful Thomas Jefferson aggregation journeyed to Charlottesville from Richmond and humbled the Orange Tide, 27-6. The Jeffs got off to a fast start by running back the kick-off 58 yards. They scored a few plays later. Lane braced after that and prevented further scoring in that quarter. In the second quarter, the Tee-Jay offense opened up and a pass from Moore to Farmer resulted in another Richmond score. The capital city boys added a safety to their collection before the half ended. Lane had a scoring chance in the third quarter, but it got away and the Tee Jays added another six points. The Richmonders scored again before sending in the secondary line and Lane garnered her one touchdown in the last few minutes.

Lane dropped her next contest to Washington and Lee, 7-0. The Orange and Black running attack was bottled up successfully and though its aerial tries were more successful, they were fruitless. The only score came when Clarendon's fullback crashed over in the second period and the try for extra point succeeded. The second half was played listlessly in midfield. In this contest, Barnes, Lane's fullback and defense star, sustained a broken jaw which kept him out for the remainder of the season.

Paced by Dan Justice, Glass High defeated Lane in the annual Thanksgiving Day contest by a 19-6 score. The first quarter was even, but Lane lost its star linesman, Acker, who was injured and taken from the field. Glass scored in the second period after blocking a punt, but failed to collect the extra point. On the fourth period, Lane fumbled twice and Glass recovered and scored each time. She added the extra point once, and won 19-6.

Thus Lane ended the season with one victory, two ties, and six defeats.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

Coach Lance Taylor continued his "Houdini Act" by producing a crack midget eleven from seemingly green and mediocre material. Taylor, an alumnus of Lane, has been coach of the Junior football team for three years and has consistently turned out good squads.

At the beginning of the season, three full teams reported for practice, but over half of these hopefuls were forced to drop out because of ineligibility. Handicapped by the loss of several good prospects, Coach Taylor was unable to develop two different teams as he had done in previous years. Then the team was deprived of the intramural scrimmages, which heretofore have played a large part in developing the squad. As was customary, two games each were booked with Junior teams from Miller School and Woodberry Forest.

The Junior football team is composed of Lane-ites who are considered too light to play on the Varsity squad. These are usually lower classmen and have a much better chance of making the Junior team; however, after gaining valuable experience, they are better prepared for the Varsity team. Consequently, a good supply of seasoned talent is always ready for the Varsity coach to put the finishing touches on and send out to compete with other high schools of the state.

The opening fracas with Miller School resulted in a nip and tuck affair and ended in a six-all-deadlock. Woodberry edged the "pigmies" in the next engagement by a 6-0 margin, but the following week-end found an improved Lane machine halting the same preppers with a scoreless tie. Coach Taylor's charges brought the season to a fitting climax by humbling Miller School 14-0 on Venable Field.

Norman Lushbaugh gave promise of developing into a classy ball totter by virtue of his running, passing, and kicking, while the performance of Clay Breedon on one of the flanks was equally as heartening.

BASKETBALL

CHIS year Lane's basketball season, though dismal, was enlivened by victories over the Salem and Staunton High Schools. With the victory over Salem, the Orange and Black quintet turned back a Class A opponent for the first time.

The starting line-up at the first of the season consisted of Deane and Barnes at guard, Taylor at center, and Disque and Battle at the forward positions. The group had no sooner begun to work together than mid-term examinations deprived Coach Wilkin of Captain Barnes and Taylor. The reorganized team included Disque as center, Gianakos and King or Geer as forwards, and Deane and Battle as guards. This team lacked the height and teamwork of the old group, but it finished out the season in fairly good form, throwing a scare into the crack Danville quint, who, incidentally, boasted an all Southern guard. At the final whistle, Lane trailed by only four baskets.

Although handicapped by inadequate practice facilities and the necessity for revamping his squad in mid-season, Mr. Wilkin deserves much credit for his excellent work.

BOXING

For the first time in Lane's sport annals, the manly art of fist-cuffing was sanctioned by the school authorities. Heretofore, boxing had been carried on without the official endorsement of the administration.

"Cully" Wilkin, ex-Cavalier leatherpusher, tutored the ringmen in their initial season and arranged an abbreviated but stiff schedule consisting of matches with Crozet and Orange High Schools. Coach Wilkin sought matches with several prep schools but was unable to secure them.

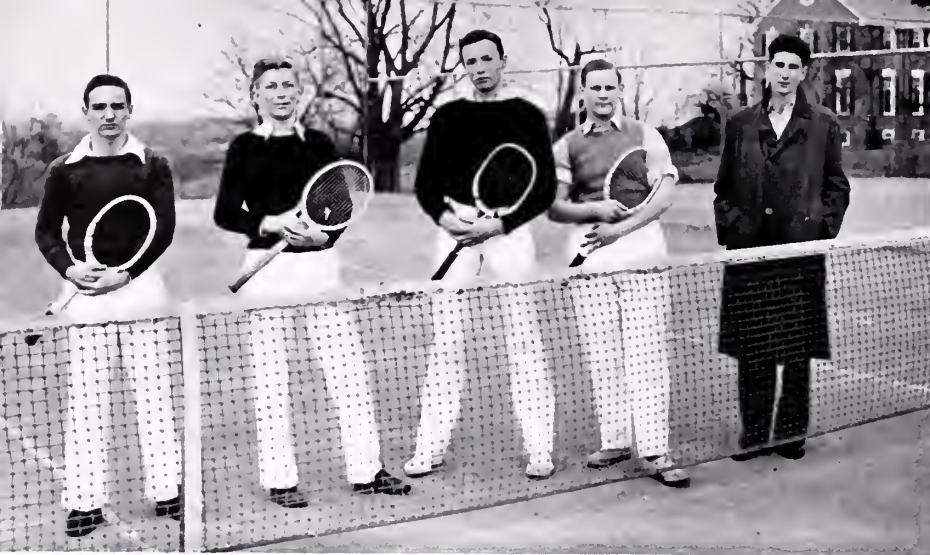

The mittmen made an auspicious debut by swapping leather with the highly touted Crozet boxers as a preliminary to the Harvard-Virginia encounter. A crowd of almost 6,000 saw the Lane novices gain a 2½-2½ draw. Willie Barnett and Roy Bowman both turned in sterling performances, while Garth, the local alleged "sleep-producer," was decisioned by Captain Burfoot of Crozet.

A better trained and conditioned Lane squad disposed of Orange by gaining a 5-3 verdict at the City Armory. Willie Barnett continued his winning ways by edging the veteran Pugh, while Billy Garth ran true to expectations by plastering Shifflett with a barrage of stinging jabs. Baker, Massey, and Michael made possible other Lane wins.

Judging by the season's record of an undefeated and uninjured team, there can be no reason why boxing should not develop into a major sport here at Lane.

TENNIS

Rapidly increasing in popularity, tennis is now the favorite minor sport of Lane. Each year, a school tournament is held for the purpose of choosing the best boy singles player and the best doubles team.

The team is then formed on the basis of results of the tournament, the winner usually being seeded No. 1. About thirty boys enter this tournament every year, but few are able to get and hold a regular position on the team.

This year, the team, sponsored by Mr. Smoot and headed by Robert Walker, Nelson Mahone, and Franklin Davis, promises to make the best showing ever.

GOLF

Though few students engage in golf, those participating take a real interest in it. Last year no real schedule was arranged, but several matches were played. The team lost two matches to Thomas Jefferson of Richmond and one to the Virginia Freshmen, but was able to tie the Petersburg High School team. In the State Interscholastic Tournament at Woodberry Forest, John Battle won the title for distance in driving and finished in fourth position in the 36-hole tournament. Holt Souder finished in twelfth place, and the team as a whole came out fourth. Billy Battle took sixth place in the Junior tournament.

This year the team was composed of Billy Battle, Francis Fife, Douglas Fife, and Hamilton Smithey.

Since softball has become such an important intramural sport in all colleges and a large number of high schools, it was initiated last spring into the minor sports of Lane High School and won unusual favor among the boys of the school. This intramural sport has been sponsored since its beginning by the "C" Club, which organized the softball league and is responsible for its success. The four teams comprising the league were named for various favorite major league teams and each was captained by a leading softball enthusiast. Guilford Acker was the leader of the Senators, Don Disque captained the Yankees, and Sclater Sadler and Eugene Wingfield were the respective chieftains of the Indians and Giants. Spirited interleague games were played on Venable Field three times a week. The winning team, as well as the individual with the highest batting average and the player making the largest number of runs for the season, received an award donated by the "C" Club. The number of boys taking part in this sport has doubled from two teams last year to four teams this year. This is proof enough of the growth of popularity of softball in Lane High School.

ON THE PLAYGROUND

GIRLS' SPORTS

Girls' sports have made a strong bid for laurels in the realm of intramural athletics this season. Under the leadership of the Athletic Council, which includes two girls from each class elected by a group of those interested in athletics, and two faculty sponsors, a stiff schedule was set up. This included volleyball, tournament basketball, and tennis, with a generous spicing of hiking, bicycling, skating, and horseback riding. With enthusiastic energy each manager got to work perfecting plans for her own activity. Nancy Dinwiddie took over volleyball; Alice Glover, spring basketball; Jeannette Seiler, baseball; Ada Vanderberg, tennis; Dorothy Richards and Dorothy Stahl, hiking.

The Lane Sport Club completed the second year of its existence very successfully. The membership this year included: Helen Stahl, Crews Borden, Dorothy Richards, Jeannette Seiler, and Jean Spicer. In the early fall the club lowered its entrance requirements from twenty points to sixteen points so that it would be easier for girls to become members. The most important point of all, given for sportsmanship, can be awarded only by consent of the entire club, and no one can become a member without it.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

In the fall the girls decided to concentrate on intramural basketball, since they were unable to secure a suitable place to practice frequently enough to develop a varsity team. Tournament games were played at the City Armory and much interest was manifested by the various teams. Evenly matched sextets increased rivalry among the intra-squad games. The team led by Hawkins out-classed all opponents and was victor in every game played except one. Most of the other games were close and at the end of the tournament the percentage of victories differed by only a few points.

Spring basketball was conducted this year for the purpose of training the members of the squad in the fine points of the game, that they might better qualify themselves for the contests next session. The Seniors, therefore, were eliminated.

The popularity of volleyball increased enormously last fall. Enough girls answered the call to organize four teams. The following captains were selected: Jeannette Seiler, Addie Lee Geer, Helen Stahl, and Ada Vandenberg. The tournament moved swiftly to a thrilling finish with Seiler's team being declared champion.

There was considerable comic atmosphere at the last game of the season when a hilarious combat raged between Seiler's team and the puffing faculty in charming shirtsleeve uniforms. The excitement increased as point after point was rolled up by both teams. The spectators on the bank found it difficult to keep their equilibrium. The faculty fought valiantly but were outclassed by the experienced team led by Seiler.

Tennis again found its place in the Girls' Athletic set-up and attracted an unusually large number of the feminine racket wielders. Miss Garrison introduced a new system of play, with one tournament devoted to the experienced players, and another entirely for novices. As customary, the tourneys were conducted on the municipal courts.

Softball found a number of new participants in the athletic world at Lane High School. Enthusiastic girls organized four teams under the skillful management of Jeannette Seiler. Some of the games were as exciting to the Lane-ites as the World Series to a real baseball fan.

Th Girls' Athletic heads sponsored a series of hikes and similar activities for those students who could not participate in the more rigid sports. These were beneficial not only physically but also socially.
